JAPANESE ARE NOW IN FENG-WANG-CHENG

Russians Retire on Approach of Japan's Troops Still Ammunition Are Leave Hospital Supplies New Chwang Also Evacuated. Twenty Killed in Tokio Explosion.

Tokio, May 8.—Last Friday after sharp cavalry skirmishes at Hsipotou, Santaiao and other places, a detachment of infantry belonging to General Kuroki's army took Feng-wang-cheng.

The Russians began retiring toward the main line, but Lieutenant Colonel [illegible] and [illegible] by the Japanese battalion.

Refugees from the woods and small villages are re-returning.

The Russians [illegible] Chefoo.

Natives in the vicinity of Feng-wang-cheng say that last Monday the Russians buried about 800 men, although that place and that [illegible] at Yolo probably were about 3,000.

KUROKI'S REPORT

Says Japanese Took Feng-wang-cheng on May 6 and Russians Left.

Washington, May 8.—The Japanese minister has received the following dispatch dated Tokio, May 8:

"General Kuroki, commandant of the first army corps, reports that on May 6 our cavalry detachment occupied the enemy at Feng-wang-cheng, which was immediately occupied by our infantry detachment.

"The enemy burnt ammunition before evacuating the stronghold. Refugees are coming in daily from among the adjoining forests and villages continue to come out and surrender.

"Natives say that the number of Russians who were carried on litters through Feng-wang-cheng on May 5 amounted to 500. It is believed that the total casualties of the enemy exceed 2,000. Our army which landed on Liao-tung reports that a detachment, after repulsing a small body of the enemy, occupied Pulan-tien on May 6 and destroyed the railway and part of the telegraphic communications of Port Arthur."

KUROPATKIN'S STORY

Says Russians Left Feng-wang-cheng Upon the Approach of the Enemy and Went to Tehlindjano.

St. Petersburg, May 8.—General Kuropatkin has sent the following telegram under date of May 7 to the czar:

"Lieutenant General Zassulitch reports that the enemy's cavalry and units of their advance guard occupied Feng-wang-cheng.

"Two companies and two squadrons of Russian cavalry made a [illegible] and [illegible] withdrew toward Tehlindjano.

"Scouts from Feng-wang-cheng report that two Japanese divisions advanced May 6 towards Feng-wang-cheng by the main road from Siao-mitn. A third division advancing by the valley of the Ai river occupied a position near Khunchiatse-tzo and posted batteries to fire upon Feng-wang-cheng, counting upon finding our forces there.

"The Japanese advanced slowly and very cautiously upon Feng-wang-cheng."

RUSSIAN RETREAT

Kuropatkin Declares That the Movement From Feng-wang-cheng Was Carefully Planned and Orderly Out.

St. Petersburg, May 8.—2:30 a. m.—Two official despatches calculated to increase the depression existing among all circles in Russia were given out last night. From the point of view of the progress of the campaign the most important is that regarding the capture by the Japanese without opposition of Feng-wang-cheng on May 6.

The second gives details concerning the killed, wounded and missing among the troops under the command of Lieut. General Zassulitch, as the result of the fighting on the Yalu, the number of which totals 1,270 officers and men.

General Kuropatkin forwarded a message from Lieut. General Zassulitch who had been in command of the column retiring from Feng-wang-cheng which described the movements of the enemy in connection with the occupation of the town. The information caused no surprise to the officials who already had been advised of the decision that no attempt would be made to hold Feng-wang-cheng, the superiority of the Japanese in all fighting arrangements insuring a direct attack on the line at Kiu-lien-cheng. The report General Zassulitch was given strict orders that there should be no halt at the rear guard.

The Japanese appear to be moving in two directions along the main road up the valley, placing artillery so as to command the town. The [illegible] on the part of General Kuroki shows that the entire [illegible] of operations has [illegible] that every [illegible] exactly [illegible]

KUROKI'S NEXT MOVE

IF YOU HAVE DYSPEPSIA, READ THIS.

The old way of taking cures, bismuth, etc., to cure dyspepsia is all wrong. They must be put up in tablets or in liquid, the result is just the same. The object is to create artificial digestion, but this does not make a cure. Stop taking the pepsin, etc., and you have your dyspepsia or indigestion back again. People are cognizant of opium for nervous troubles and stomach. Nux vomica, it does not cure, stop taking it—drugs and the pain and distress return. The only common sense method is to drive out of the system the cause of dyspepsia and sick headache by cleansing the stomach and bowels, at the same time using a medicine that will act on the liver. This forces through the glands of the stomach the digestive fluid that nature intended. In this way you cure dyspepsia. The medicine that cures dyspepsia by this method is called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup of Pepsin. Druggists, 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. If dyspepsia, get pill for a dose. "Fan's" Comment

Come again, Jones.

"Mac" ought to have had a shut out.

McNeeley got into several holes yesterday, but good pitching and good fielding saved him.

Nill made a nice catch of Garvin's line fly in the fifth.

Hartman, the visitors' guardian of the center patch, made two sensational running catches in the fifth that won him much applause.

Bridges made a clever running catch of McNeeley's high one in the seventh.

It begins to look as if the Jimmies were going to die an early death.

It begins to look as if the Jimmies were going to die as near the thousand mark as possible.

Yesterday's attendance was fair considering the coolness of the weather. A warm Sunday would bring the crowd out.

Lezotte, the heavyweight of the visiting team, needs some more fat. He fell down standing up yesterday.

Garvin, who caught for the Saints yesterday is a promising young baseball. He is good at heading off stolen bases.

Garvin's hit yesterday bounced over Blake's head, which was largely responsible for the grit effects. This was the only extra base hit of the game.

Nicholas Kahl drew the only two bobbles of the locals yesterday. He dropped Mauser's fly in attempting a double and made a wild throw to first.

The Saints could do nothing [illegible] could get in and pitch every game. Mac is like a certain liquid refreshment. The more he works the more he improves.

It is alleged, it is believed, it is rumored, they say, that "Pop" Old Lengke, the crossed-arm German, will do the pitching today.

If it isn't Lengke, it may be Akers, or Woodrich or Coons, or McNeeley again. Ryan sent posting any bulletins these days.

Today is ladies' day. The management's band concert scheme goes into effect for the first time. The Midland band will go out to the park at 1:30 and will play a number of selections before the game.

LADIES TOURNEY TAPLES ON STAVE AT BOOTH'S PARK

The little diamond conference at Booth's park in Colorado City yesterday between Doc Dougherty's Lambs and the Colorado City Stars resulted in the Lambs turning the tables and knocking some of the paint off the Stars. In this case it was the Stars who saw the stars.

The score was 5 to 5. A full nine innings were played but the score might have been larger. Nordine Falk and J. Gardner were the battery for the Lambs while Reilly brothers presided for the Stars.

Doc Dougherty will leave for the east this week to secure some National leaguers for the team.

NEW YORK'S AGED ... OF THE ARISTOCRACY.

Mrs. Annette L. Place of New York is in training for a tramp to California next month, and for some weeks past has been taking a daily walk from Harlem to the Battery and back. She intends to take a year in which to accomplish the distance across the continent, and will lecture en route in the interests of the Sunshine society. An average walk of ten miles a day for twelve months would not be a remarkable feat for a young and vigorous woman, and, in fact, many of us daily accomplish that much and more without knowing it, but when it is recalled that Mrs. Place is 72 years of age, her task assumes a different aspect. In spite of her age, she is as wiry and strong as a girl, and the weather is never too stormy to prevent her [illegible] being the first down town pedestrian each day. She will take no account of rain, snow or mud, but will start on a fine day, not to speak of rainy weather. The great energy manifested by Mrs. Place in her every movement attracts attention, and calls forth a [illegible] number of half a dozen words. Her main delight is to be in the open air, irrespective of climatic changes, and variations of weather.—The Pacific, as in The Illustrated Sporting News.

ANOTHER ACE FALLS TO DENVER

Chamberlain's Legs Go Up Against a Snag

BEST GAME OF SEASON

[illegible] Percy Chamberlain's Fern Dell Shoo-Fly-ville dropped their little mite into Pigeon Ryan's narrow bank yesterday, losing the first game of the series to the Miners by a score of 5 to 1.

The contest was by all odds the best ever witnessed on the local grounds. But for the unwarranted and heartless attack of boozy Percy upon the slabs in the seventh inning H. G. McNeeley would have had no excuse but many rubber bands with which to shoot spit balls at the head of Mr. Schenck. As it is, Garvin took a large mouthful of the well known barkant juice and punched one of "Mac's" straight-aways for three of the privy. McNeeley had previously passed Webster a May basket which entitled the latter captain to the freedom and comfort of Thompson's Rest, otherwise known as the corner pocket, and when Garvin did things according to hoyle, of course Webster traveled, and the white wash solution could not be used.

Tommy Chinn, the expectorant for the River Flats, was not seen during the first inning. He was experimenting [illegible] Gatling Pennock. In other words he was up in the air. When he descended, a la mode, to the mountain top in the second inning he still showed the effects of the dissension but settled down, turned over another leaf and began things anew. His pitching thereafter was on par with the splendid work of McNeeley and good support on both sides made it an interesting game.

In the first inning Chinn made eight fruitless efforts to push the ammunition near the cannon's mouth, but gave it up as a bad job. Nill and Graham were therefore ordered to move on by "Jigger" Carruthers and at this critical period "Smiling Bill" Kemmer made an error. It was an awful thing to do and Percival, who was counting the sheckels in the box office turned over and groaned aloud. Congalton got to first and second on the mishap and the two Georges also moved. Nill going home and Graham to third. Then while the funeral procession was forming, the cracker man reached over and swiped the home plate right before the eyes of the Missouri police force. Thornton [illegible] from centerfield, Congalton profiting by his suicide by going to Schenbeck's station. Ryan picked a single into the left pansy patch and "Gun" scored. Kahl lashed one into the woods to the right and copped the second plow. Ryan had succumbed to Garvin's mighty arm at second and had retired the frame. Blake then crept into left field and Nicholas was at home once more.

The [illegible] that had been garnered as a result of Chinn's Bonzo stunt and Kemmer's costly error were enough to win the game. The home team got one more in the eighth off a gift to Congalton, a field play, Kemmer's around error and Thornton's out, but it was not needed.

Sioux City's first run was made in the seventh, when Fromer started with a clean hit to left. He went to second upon it and was aided by Parker's error. Dana flew out to Harper who doubled to Braun, catching Mc[illegible] off the sack. Fromer came through with his long one past Ketchum, scoring with time to spare.

Denver took two in the first. Ketchum made first and Smith sacrificed. Hartzell hit to Preston in center and Preston muffed, scoring Ketchum. Hallman came up with a hot line drive scoring Hartzell. In the fourth Hallman hit Hayes to left and Hayes soaked out a home that gave [illegible] earned runs.

Preston showed up for the first time in center but has not been in practice and was not up to his game.

MINISTERS TO DINE

Banquet at Y. M. C. A. at Noon Today Brings Weekly Gathering of Local Divines to a Close---All Invited.

The ministers of Colorado Springs, Colorado City and Manitou will bring their weekly gatherings to a close for the year this afternoon with a banquet at the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

The banquet will commence at 1 o'clock. It will not be an elaborate affair as far as the menu goes, but it will be a tasty and appetizing spread. At the conclusion of the feast a number of short talks will be delivered. One of the toasts will be on the subject, "Our Absent Brothers," and will be responded to by one of the other ministers of the city. Dr. E. W. Work will be asked to extend "The Tender Feet a Welcome." A number of others will be called on for toasts.

The committee in charge of the function is composed of Rev. R. H. Ayres, Dr. C. B. Wilcox and Rev. F. Evans Carrington. The invitation to the banquet is extended to all ministers in the three cities whether resident or visiting and members of fellowship in the Ministerial Association.

The charge per plate is merely nominal and will not overtax the pocketbook of any preacher in the city, according to a member of the committee. It will be an affair for ministers only.

RESIGNATION TENDERED

REV. W. D. ORMES WILL LEAVE HIS CHURCH JUNE 30.---IS NOW IN THE EAST WHERE HE WILL LOCATE.

After serving as pastor of the Second Congregational church in this city for the past fifteen years, Rev. Stanley D. Ormes has tendered his resignation and will remove to the east.

The resignation of Mr. Ormes was read at the morning service of his church yesterday by Dr. E. G. Lancaster, who has been occupying the pulpit part of the time during the absence of Mr. Ormes in the east. The resignation is to take effect June 30, but Mr. Ormes' term of service is to expire May 31 as he will not preach here after that time.

It has been known for some time that Mr. Ormes contemplated leaving Colorado Springs, but the announcement of his intention to resign was made a number of weeks ago in the Gazette. Mr. Ormes has been in the east for two or three weeks. He is now in Cleveland, Ohio. The plans for his future are not known, but he has accepted a pastorate in Ohio or Massachusetts.

No action has been taken by the members of the Second Congregational church toward appointing a successor to Mr. Ormes. Rev. Mr. Ormes was the first pastor of the church, having assumed the pastorate when it was first organized. He has been prominently connected with the life of Colorado Springs and has many friends here outside of his church. He is a man of high intellectual attainments. He was at one time a member of the school board.

THE PANACEA FOR NATIONAL ILLS

IS THE COMMUNION OF INDIVIDUAL SOULS WITH THEIR GOD, SAYS REV. JR. MEISER OF EMMANUEL PRESBYTERIAN.

Rev. I. J. Meiser, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, applied the gospel to everyday life and national and international questions with force yesterday. He stated that the solution of all the great public questions is the communion of individual souls with their God. The sermon was very pointed. It was in substance as follows:

Text. Ps. 42:2---"My soul thirsteth for God."

There are many problems that perplex the minds of this generation. The problem of maintaining peace and harmony between nations and between different sections, organizations and classes of the same nation, has brought the question of international importance. The long sounds of battle have been unheard in the far east, and the cruel duty has not as yet given slack to their toil, and the ... of war. [illegible] IN [illegible] OF PORT ARTHUR.

[illegible] week has witnessed a great change in the [illegible] in the far east and the fall [illegible] of a [illegible] foreign military town which [illegible] are ensconced in the very pits on the Yalu [illegible] apply ammunition [illegible] on the Yellow [illegible] Arthur.

Count Kuropatkin's withdrawal from [illegible] was followed by the announcement that [illegible] had conducted another [illegible] battle [illegible] at the same place. Unless it is evident that he does not intend to risk another engagement, which in no case would be decisive, and which might still further [illegible] the prestige of Japanese arms.

It becomes evident, therefore, that the next facts of importance will deal with a decisive engagement between the [illegible] in opposing armies or with a demonstration of some sort at Port Arthur.

It seems impossible that the Russian garrison should attempt a sortie, and equally improbable that the Japanese should attempt to carry the fortifications by assault. But with the fortifications already given up, the heights of the Japanese the engagement may be looked upon as [illegible] practically over, after all, and a new siege, while fresh reinforcements are steadily gathering, is the last thing to be looked for.

THE HON. HOTELESS HEARST.

It is difficult to conceive of a greater calamity happening to this republic than the election of Hon. W. R. Hearst as president. That the country need have any fear that such misled young persons will ever occupy the White House as Mr. Hearst's [illegible] Lincoln, Grant and McKinley. As here Mr. Hearst is supplying Parker with a justification of its idea that money in this country is supply security.

Mr. Hearst's money, and nothing else under the blue [illegible] of heaven, is supporting him with delegates to the Democratic National convention. Fortunately there will [illegible] to succeed to [illegible] Mr. Hearst's purpose, [illegible] they may give the old-line Democrats a fright by their vociferous shouts and blustering.

Even were Mr. Hearst to buy the nomination for the presidency he would be defeated so fast and so far that no more of his kind would dream of following in his footsteps for a hundred years. Not even the working [illegible], whose cause Mr. Hearst particularly champions, would give him their support in any considerable numbers, because a stable government is the workingman's hope, and by the very nature, by the influences which [illegible] him and by reason of his own mental [illegible], Mr. Hearst could not give this country a government that [illegible] left the confidence of even a fraction of its people. A condition to its administration would be found in conditions in Hayti and San Domingo.

Mr. Hearst is not even a possibility.

THE STAGE AS A TEACHER.

"How do I make an audience laugh? Now you've got me, because the humor of an audience is uncertain, as capricious as the mood of a bride on her honeymoon—and any man will tell you that you can't gamble on that."

The comedian of "Tiff-Taff-Toff" sat in his dressing room, looking solemnly absurd in his quaint swordsman's costume, as he talked.

"The manager gambles when he buys a play, the actor gambles when he inserts business which he thinks will get laughs, and they both gamble on every audience that files into the theater.

"Your dresser comes in after looking through a hole in the curtain, and reports that the house is great. You go out and throw a joke at them, and they sit like a bunch of dyspeptics studying out a new diet.

"If it is too hot a night, they don't laugh. If it is too cold a night, they shiver until the middle of the second act. One rule you can count on, however. A scattered audience does not laugh heartily. Take a thousand people and scatter them around the Metropolitan Opera house, and spring the best jokes ever written upon them, and they will snicker in a lonesome fashion. They are lonesome. They are too far apart. Put those same thousand persons in the old Madison Square theater or the Princess, and they will howl at exactly the same jokes. They are close together, there is a comradeship of mirth, and a fellow is not afraid that if he laughs out loud his laughter will be echoed through a half empty house. That is one reason why actors like to play to packed houses. The manager has his own reasons.

"One thing is sure—you can't get laughs on mere form. Situations make laughs, particularly if the comedian is getting the worst of it. The [illegible] comedian will [illegible] harder the audience laughs. I once had a funny line which in itself failed utterly. The woman working opposite me said: 'Get out of here. No dinner, no dinner.'

"Oh, very well,' I replied, 'then have supper early.'

"That line ought to have brought a laugh; but it didn't. So the next time I said it I turned sideways to the audience, took hold of my stomach as if it were empty, looked gratefully toward heaven and murmured, 'Then, gray heaven, we have supper early.' And the house yelled. It was the same line in spirit—but the mis-

Good Short Stories

WHEN TWO SCOTS MEET.

When Scot meets Scot, then comes the argument. This was exemplified on Woodward avenue recently when two brothers from the land of "oaten" met for the first time in many years.

"Well," said Donald, "the best o' ye is guid for nae-thing. How are ye, Sandy?"

"Bravely, indeed, Donald," Sandy," but a bit weary."

"What makes ye weary, laird?"

"Weel," said Sandy, "it's the spellin' on this bit card advertisin' the Burns concert that he given at the Light Guard armory on the last Thursday in January."

"What ails it?"

"Weel, it says, 'Come one, come all,' an' on another place it says, 'Come all, come all.' Now, either 'one or 'tither is right or wrang."

An hour later they were still at it when a friend came along and separated them with a highball.—Detroit News.

NO PRAYERS NEEDED AFTER THE DERBY.

A story is being told of the pastor of a Kentucky congregation which is typical of the spirit in the blue grass country.

It is said that one Saturday during the morning service the minister requested the members of the congregation to send in the pulpit the names of anyone for whom they desired prayers to be offered. Several were sent up, among them one by Colonel Kilrup, the wealthiest man in the congregation, who asked that prayers be offered for "Lucy Grey." The pastor earnestly prayed for all those names he had, but Kilrup a particularly powerful plea for "Lucy Grey."

Next Sunday, when the pastor made the usual request, about 25 members of the congregation sent up petitions that he pray for "Lucy Grey." Feeling that Lucy must indeed be in a bad way, the minister threw his whole soul into the task of saving her. On the following Sunday he walked to hear the condition of Lucy Grey, but received not a single petition. Just before the time for prayers, however, he received a little note from Colonel Kilrup stating that there was no longer need to pray for Lucy Grey. As soon as the service was over the pastor hurried out of his vestments and hastened to catch up with the colonel.

"Say, my dear colonel," he said, "what has happened to 'Lucy Grey?' Has she departed this life?"

"No," replied the colonel with [illegible] "but she won the Derby last Friday. It's all right."

The playing of golf on Sundays is practiced to such an extent that in a certain parish in England, it is said the hour of services has been changed to suit the convenience of players.

The population of Korea as shown by a census recently just issued by the bureau of statistics is 10,000,000 in round numbers, its area about equal to that of the state of Kansas, and its foreign commerce at about $12,000,000, of which imports form about $7,000,000.

Emigrants from Denmark, some of whom is illiterate, all come to the United States. Thirty per cent of them are Lutherans, and nearly all of those settle on farms. The ordinary day laborer in Copenhagen receives $1 a day; in the country, less, and from that, or, in summer, $1.50 to $2 a day.
